

Quinton Hufferd Looks At Gene Harris: Soul-Infused Jazz At Blues Piano Revealed

Piano blog has released a new post featuring jazz pianist, Gene Harris. Piano players will hear and see rare footage from this great jazz musician.

Online PR News – 05-January-2012 Quinton Hufferd of Blues Piano Revealed has released a new blog post featuring the late, great jazz pianist, Gene Harris. Hufferd has been a fan of Harris' music and playing for some time now and hopes to share Harris with all of his readers. Hufferd has collected a series of video performances of Gene Harris with the Ray Brown Trio. Hufferd enjoys Harris most for the way he is able to infuse so much soul into his jazz playing. Hufferd's post about Gene Harris is found at <http://bluespianorevealed.com/gene-harris-soul-infused-jazz/>.

According to Hufferd, "One of the piano players that I have really been digging for the last few years or so is Gene Harris. I still remember when my friend and coworker, at the time, handed me my first Gene Harris album and upon listening was immediately hooked.

During that time I was playing in a lot of jazz groups, but had newly joined a blues group. Gene Harris offered the best of not only the best of those two worlds, but a heavy Gospel influence as well."

"To this day," Hufferd says, "Harris is one of my top favorites."
