

ChannelVission signs agreement to launch VoltStar Technologies' green technology products

ChannelVission announces a multi-million dollar agreement with VoltStar Technologies, Inc. to launch its green technology products into new sales channels

Online PR News – 09-March-2010 Santa Clara, CA., - March 4, 2010, ChannelVission™, a global business development company, signed a strategic agreement with VoltStar Technologies Inc., to launch its new zero-waste EcoCharger and expand the company's channels to market. The comprehensive multi-million dollar agreement forges a strategic partnership aligning ChannelVission's channel sales and marketing expertise with VoltStar Technologies' new green technology products.

"We're very pleased to partner with VoltStar Technologies," said Aman Sehgal, president and CEO of ChannelVission. "Their new, green technology will help customers reduce their power consumption. It will be an excellent complement to the products from our partners in the telecom and networking market."

Their new, green technology will help customers reduce their power consumption. It will be an excellent complement to the products from our partners in the telecom and networking market.

ChannelVission provides outsourcing sales and marketing services for the development, enablement and management of new channels to market that drive incremental revenue. They assess the current channel structure and identify new partners as needed to maximize sales. ChannelVission can also help in identifying and evaluating new geographic or vertical markets.

- * Evaluation of existing channels and channel partners
- * Market and competitive review and analysis
- * Identification, qualification and recruitment of channel partners
- * Channel enablement
- * Channel management

"Getting ChannelVission on board will be a big boost to our opportunities with our new product line", said Jim McGinley, president and CEO of VoltStar Technologies. "We look forward to partnering and leveraging ChannelVission's expertise in channel sales and marketing."

About ChannelVission, Inc.

ChannelVission Inc. is a B2B business development outsourcing company, composed of experts specializing in channel sales, marketing and business development. Our highly trained, results-oriented professionals serve clients in the Americas, Asia-Pacific, Europe and the Middle East. The company is a privately held corporation headquartered in Santa Clara, CA. Information on ChannelVission's services may be obtained via email at info@channelvission.com or at: <http://www.channelvission.com>

About VoltStar Technologies, Inc.

VoltStar Technologies, Inc., formerly Horizon Technologies Inc., provides high quality and feature rich charging solutions for portable devices. Their products minimize waste, use less power, are lead free and provide unmatched convenience. VoltStar Technologies, Inc. is located in Schaumburg Illinois. Founded in 2005, their experienced and creative engineering team employs advanced technology and innovative design in the development of "Best in Class" products. For more information, visit www.volt-star.com

=====

Media Information

Rick Freedman

rick@channelvission.com

<http://www.channelvission.com>

4633 Old Ironsides Drive, Suite 250

Santa Clara, CA 95054

Santa Clara

CA

95054

United States