Online PR News – 16-March-2010 VIRGINIA BEACH, VA - PremiumCigarette.com, a leading online retailer of electronic cigarettes, has researched proposed bans of smoking in public places. Several states, including most recently Missouri, have proposed new legislation banning cigarettes in specific areas. The legislation will not impact e-cigarettes however.

The proposed bill in Missouri bill would ban smoking in restaurants, bars, and numerous other public venues. One of the complications of such legislation is the random exception of where smokers are allowed to smoke versus where it is banned, causing much confusion to smokers. The benefit of using an electronic cigarette rather than a traditional cigarette is that the user never has to worry about if the restaurant, bar or public place has a no-smoking policy, because using an e-cig is not considered 'smoking'.

An electronic cigarette is an alternative to traditional cigarettes. The latest modernization in smoking technology, these cigarettes provide only small amounts of nicotine with each inhalation. The electronic cigarette performs similarly to traditional smoking as it looks, feels and tastes like a traditional cigarette. When using this device, the act of inhaling or smoking produces the tactile and craving satisfactions traditional smokers seek.

"These smokeless cigarettes have no flame and do not provide second-hand smoke to surrounding people. They are also virtually odorless and do not leave that lingering smell on your clothes, car or home. Yet another benefit is these cigarettes do not discolor teeth as traditional cigarettes tend to do," says Premium Cigarette owner Vitali Servutas.

Additionally, electronic cigarettes are suitable for users who want to quit smoking regular cigarettes. With the various nicotine levels available, painless smoking abstinence can be realized by gradually decreasing the nicotine levels.

Not only are e-cigarettes much safer to the user because they don't have dangerous chemicals, they also are considerably less expensive. A smoker who consumes a pack a day spends between $4 to $10 per day depending on the brand they use. In contrast, e-cigarettes cost between $1.50 to $2.50 per day, resulting in an average savings of $1825.00 annually.
