Online PR News – 19-April-2010 Plymouth, IN topseos, the independent authority on search vendors, has announced the best landing page optimization firms for April 2010. SiteTuners.com has earned the number six position as decided by the experienced research team with the independent authority. The research team has reviewed thousands of firms in order to find the best internet marketing firms in the industry.

SiteTuners was launched in 2004 as a division of Epic Sky, Inc. Epic Sky runs large-scale pay-per-click (PPC) traffic acquisition campaigns for dozens of clients, and is also a "super affiliate" that drives PPC traffic on a performance basis. Many of Epic Sky's clients and affiliate merchants received excellent targeted traffic, but knew that they could make even higher profits if their website converted more efficiently. SiteTuners was created to fill this need. Over the last four years the division has grown to become the driving force behind the parent company. Their services combine sophisticated proprietary technology, extensive testing expertise, and a choice of payment models to deliver results. Based on their methodologies and past work, SiteTuners.com has been selected as the number six landing page optimization firm for April 2010.

The independent authority on search vendors, topseos.com, recognized a need within the internet marketing industry to separate the best vendors from the rest. As such, in 2002 the site was launched with the first rankings including the best internet marketing service providers. Since then, over 50,000 monthly visitors connect with topseos.com in search of the best internet marketing services and products. In addition to the independent rankings, you can find the knowledgebase with new and other information regarding the internet marketing industry.
