Both represent Luxury at its most luxurious. Fossati handbags are the ultimate in luxury handbags; the online service for Club Fossati members is indulgent and very exclusive. Similarly, a Saturday afternoon at David Carter's Tarts promises to be one to most exclusive indulgent hedonistic girl's day out you'll ever experienced. In the opulent, luxurious and ultimately comfortable home away from home setting of 40 Winks - 'most beautiful small hotel in the world' according to German Vogue - this is a ladies-only event, and only 25 places are available! An afternoon sipping champagne, having your hair and make-up done, perusing both vintage gems and collections from new designers as well as relaxing with a professional massage.

Tarts has been described as an “orgy of fun, frivolity and fabulous fashion”

“East London is where many of the photographers, stylists, models and magazine people I work with want to hang out in the evenings. It just seemed like a natural extension to what I was already doing...”says David.

About David Carter

David Carter is an internationally celebrated interior designer whose work regularly features in the world's most influential interiors magazines. He works principally on high-end residential projects for a diverse mix of clients including Middle Eastern royalty, Captains of Industry and city professionals. The qualities that define a Carter interior are glamour, luxury and wit. He loves mixing old with new, and is equally adept at conjuring up the theatrical flamboyance of a Marie Antoinette-inspired boudoir as he is masterminding the muted machismo of a Bond- esque bachelor pad. David has been twice short- listed for the highly prestigious Andrew Martin International Designer of the Year Award in 2001 and 2007. David combines his love for interior design with a passion for fashion, and is an established dandy-esque figure on the London party circuit. He has also modeled for magazines like L' Uomo Vogue, Sunday Times Style, Hype (Japan) and Italian GQ.
