Online PR News – 26-June-2010 Have you ever been searching for real estate on-line and have a question but you were afraid of calling an agent and sit through a marketing spiel or being put on a drip email system? Well one Sarasota real estate agent has launched the ability for perspective buyers to ask her questions without giving out personal details.

When I am working at my desk I can turn the live agent chat application on and when someone is searching for Sarasota Florida homes for sale on my website they can communicate with me anonymously said Christina. Internet marketing is about building trust. There are a lot of shady agents out there who don't do a very good job and give the rest of us professionals a bad reputation. I have added an anonymous way for home buyers to interview me online or get any questions answered that they may have without fear of a sales pitch. I am sure this will go a long way of showing buyers that I am a professional and I can be trusted to handle your real estate transaction.

The product is simple; there is a button at the top right hand corner of my website that will show buyers or sellers when I am online. They can click the button and a screen will open that will allow me to have a private internet chat session with them. They can ask me questions and all I know them as is 'Visitor'.

"I don't believe in high pressure sales. I just don't roll that way" Christina Added. I think people have had enough of the hard sell. I certainly do not respond to it. I work with my buyers and sellers the same way I would want them to work with me. It is all about trust.

As far as I am aware, no other agent in Sarasota is using this technology and I am very pleased to be the only one. I take selling Sarasota real estate seriously. Using these special Internet applications provides a better home buying or selling experience for my clients. They have my commitment to do the best possible job for them.

If you would like to chat with Christina live, stop by and check out her Sarasota homes for sale website. She is usually available in the mornings from 8 to 11. Any time the button is green I am online, said Christina. I hope to see you there!
