Free Reverse Cell Phone Lookup

Not every Cell Phone Lookup Directory will provide Accurate results. This is where newly launched <http://ReversePhoneTrace.org> compares different reverse phone lookup directories to give you the best service in existence.

Online PR News – 28-July-2010 There are a variety of reverse Cell Phone Lookup services available online today. Each one is different in the size of its database and its accuracy. Unless they were willing to spend a large amount of time and effort manually researching, consumers have had no way to compare each directory. This has recently changed.

The newly launched <http://www.ReversePhoneTrace.org> has decided to address this problem by using 4 criteria to review the most trustworthy and accurate unlisted phone number reverse lookup services. The review of the top three cell phone directories found on this site is a highly recommended piece of reading. This site also addresses some very important information about free cell phone lookup services, as well as some of the legal aspects of cell phone privacy.

Factors Considered in the Tabular Comparison

1. The size of a reverse cell phone database is one of the criteria used in classification. The largest cell phone lookup databases available will provide the consumers as much as 20 billion records (not all of these are telephone numbers). With more than 250 million cell phone users in America, it's recommended that searchers utilize a database with at least 200 million cell phone records. This will ensure a better chance of finding a specific number. The smaller the database, the more likely it is a certain number will not be listed.
2. The reputation of the Cell phone lookup directory is another criterion they consider. It was reported that approximately 11 million Americans were victims of identity theft in 2009 alone. This is why you need to be really careful about which company you are using for your reverse cell phone lookup.

Free Reverse Cell Phone Lookup Exists?

Yes, you can get limited information from a Reverse Cell Phone Lookup. Obviously, a paid cell phone number look up will give you a lot more details.

Privacy Laws Protecting Mobile Phone User Privacy Rights!

The absence of cell phone numbers in the white pages is another topic that <http://www.ReversePhoneTrace.org> explores. Cell phone numbers remain outside of the public domain, unlike land lines and classified as private due to laws enacted to ensure the privacy of cell phone users.
