

New Russian Language Tours in Amsterdam Cater To Tourists Seeking An Amsterdam Weekend Break

In response to the growing number of Russian tourists looking for tours in Amsterdam, Amsterdam City Tours caters to Russian Tourists with new Amsterdam tours hosted by Russian-speaking guides and drivers.

Online PR News – 02-September-2010 Purmerend, The Netherlands -- In response to the growing number of tourists seeking tours in Amsterdam, Amsterdam City Tours has developed tours that cater to Russian tourists.

Through the company's new Russian language Amsterdam tours, Russian tourists get a chance to journey through the city where Peter the Great spent much of his time studying the modern European states.

"Through Peter the Great, our culture is connected to a part of Russian culture and history. The city of St. Petersburg, founded by Peter the Great, is modeled upon the city of Amsterdam. It had a major impact on an important figure in Russian history. Today Amsterdam is still impacting Russian tourists with the beauty, culture and fun found in this amazing city," said Menno Jong, Director of Amsterdam City Tours (<http://www.amsterdamcitytours.com>).

The Redlight Candle Light Cruise is an excellent addition to any Amsterdam tour. The cruise gives our guests a romantic evening as they relax and take in the beauty of Amsterdam at night. Guests are even offered the opportunity of taking a guided citywalk which includes a glass of jenever in the Van Gogh café.

Amsterdam City Tours invites Russians tourists to take an Amsterdam weekend break. Tours are arranged with Russian-speaking guides, and the length of the tour ranges from 30 minutes to 24 hours depending on the selected package. Tourists choose one of several modes of transportation to tour the city including:

- Bus
- Boat
- Private car / minivan
- Bike
- Tourist bus
- Carriage

Amsterdam City Tours also offers a 'Redlight Candle Light Cruise' through the city in a glass-enclosed boat. Passengers get to enjoy wine, cheese and soft music on the boat as it offers views of the city at night.

Jong added, "The Redlight Candle Light Cruise is an excellent addition to any Amsterdam tour. The cruise gives our guests a romantic evening as they relax and take in the beauty of Amsterdam at night. Guests are even offered the opportunity of taking a guided citywalk which includes a glass of jenever in the Van Gogh café."
