

ITSupportQuotes.com Announces Virtualization Services Company Advertising

IT advertising leader IT Support Quotes announces the launch of its new virtualization services and cloud computing company sections. Companies in these fields can now get increased industry exposure to IT procurement professionals and business owners.

Online PR News – 20-November-2010 IT Virtualization and cloud computing have been the buzz words for the past couple of years in the IT industry. This comes for good reason. Virtualization is increasing efficiency and helping organizations reach goals more effectively all the time. The main benefits of computer and networking virtualization include increased energy efficiency, improved security, reduced risk and improved cost effectiveness in scalability. With these benefits, it is no wonder public and private sector organizations are moving in this direction at a rapid rate.

“IT Support Quotes has been a hit in connecting IT decision makers with networking, security and tech help desk companies for over two years now, but we expect our new sections dedicated to virtualization and the cloud to be our biggest sections yet, simply because of the massive expansion in these arenas.”
